

Talking Trident. A workshop to help Friends have more productive conversations about Trident.

Parliament will be voting on the renewal of Trident later this year. Many people are still unaware or undecided about the issue. As Quakers, we have an important contribution to make, by speaking our truth with conviction as well as with compassion. These one-day workshops involve lots of exercises and practice at having difficult conversations about Trident. The aim is to help Friends and others to feel more confident about engaging with others on this topic.

Book a workshop for your Meeting by contacting Tim at Quaker Peace & Social Witness.

Tim Wallis, Peace & Disarmament Programme Manager, QPSW, and author of The Truth About Trident. Follow him @DisarmQuaker

Any questions: timw@quaker.org.uk | 020 7663 1067

To find out about future work and workshops subscribe to Educate & Disarm:

www.quaker.org.uk/educate-disarm

What can Quakers do about militarism?

What can Quakers do about Militarism: a workshop to explore how Friends can increase public awareness, debate and scrutiny of militarisation in society.

Militarism has existed in Britain for a long time, but in recent years there has been an increase in the promotion of militarism across areas of civil society including education, services for young people and initiatives such as the creation of Armed Forces Day. What action can Quakers take to challenge this alarming trend?

Edinburgh | Saturday May 7 | 10am-12 noon | Quaker Meeting House, 7 Victoria Terrace, Edinburgh EH1 2JL

Glasgow | Saturday May 7 | 3-5pm | Quaker Meeting House, 38 Elmbank Crescent, Glasgow G2 4PS

Manchester | Sunday May 8 | 12 noon-2pm | Friends Meeting House, 6 Mount Street, Manchester M2 5NS

London | Wednesday May 11 | 7-9pm | Friends House, 173 Euston Road, London NW1 2BJ

Facilitated by Sam Walton, Peace & Disarmament Programme Manager, Quaker Peace & Social Witness

Any questions: samw@quaker.org.uk or mairic@quaker.org.uk for Scottish workshops.

To find out about future work and workshops subscribe to Educate & Disarm:

www.quaker.org.uk/educate-disarm

